The name of Chas. E. Libschner was inadvertently omitted from a list of those owning automobiles, published in The Optic, a few evenings ago. And, come to think of it, Mr. Libschner has had more provoking trouble with his machine than have all the other auto owners in town, city or country put together.

The Postal Telegraph company has established a branch station at the soldiers' camp, northwest of the city, where messages can be received and delivered. It is a convenience which should come in handy during the encampment and shows the enterprise of this company. The scheme was original with Manager H. W. Cantrill.

The funeral of Jefferson Reynolds, 2nd, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Hallett W. Reynolds took place from the family residence this afternoon, religious services being conducted by Rev. J. S. Moore, rector of St. Paul's Memorial church. A large concourse of friends and relatives attended the last sad rites.

"Japan and the Japanese" will be the subject of the stereopticon lecture at the Methodist church tomorrow evening. More than ninety hand-colored views will illustrate the subject which will be one of the most instructive of this popular series given to date. Scenery, culture of rice and flowers, unique customs, home life, temples, religious ideas, opportunities in the new Japan will be shown. In a word it will give a comprehensive study of "Sunrise in the Sunrise Kingdom."
